Requiem Mass for Pacific Heroes

Sailors and Marines, aboard a transport in the Pacific, attend mass in honor of their heroic comrades who died in the battle for Eniwetok in the Marshall Islands. Many Marines, wounded in the sudden assault on the key Jap base, attend the ceremony, which was celebrated by Lieut. Anthony J. Conway, naval chaplain, from Philadelphia.

Berlin Reports:

Invasion Ships Massing

LONDON, April 21 (INS)—The greatest concentration of ships since Dunkirk—including British, American, French and other Allied vessels—was reported massing in British home waters, the German radio said today in its latest outbreak of invasion jitters.

"London is becoming more and more deserted by British, United States and colonial troops," added the enemy broadcast, heard by Reuters.

"Every day now, troop trains are leaving London stations, taking men to channel ports and ports on the east and south coasts."

Yanks, RAF Pound Path Into Europe

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

LONDON, April 21 (AP)—The RAF threw the crushing weight of 1100 aircraft into an attack on Cologne, German anti-invasion transport hub, and three other rail targets in France and Belgium last night with a massive bombardment of perhaps 4480 short tons.

American Marauders and Havocs with an escort of RAF, Dominion and Allied Spitfires hammered military objectives in northern France today.

Only 16 bombers were lost in the tremendous night operations, including a Mosquito raid on Berlin, which quickly followed yesterday's dusk attack on Hitler's Atlantic wall by a fleet of 750 to 1000 Flying Fortresses.

(An International News Service London dispatch said the German-controlled Hilversum radio went off the air this afternoon indicating Allied air activity against northwestern Germany.)

An air ministry communique said a great weight of bombs was dropped in the four-ply assault, suggesting that it might have exceeded the 4480 tons deposited on French rail targets by a 1000-bomber fleet Tuesday night when the RAF marked up a record in bomb tonnage.

In less than 72 hours Allied air invasion forces in Britain had sent over 9000 planes roaring against the European fortress with close to 15,000 mixed tons of explosives on rail junctions which tie the invasion coast with the Reich, defending airfields, plane factories and coastal defense installations in an unprecedented pattern of destruction obviously designed to flatten a path for Gen. Eisenhower's troops.

This pattern was continued today as bomber formations, including American Marauders, skipped across the channel, continental rail stations closed down and Spitfires harassed military objectives in northern France that were hit by 2500 tons of explosives by the Americans yesterday.

In addition to Cologne, rail targets hit in the RAF assault last night were Orlignies, 15 miles southeast of Brussels; Lens in the Pas-de-Calais area of France, and La Chapelle, on the outskirts of Paris, where a ring of rail junctions had been attacked in recent raids.

EUROPE—Lashing out at Nazi communication, Allied air fleets have struck at Berlin, the rail centers at Cologne, Orlignies in Belgium and La Chappelle near Paris, and have blasted the Pas de Calais coastal area of France and shipping along the Dutch coast.

Reds Repulse 2 Nazi Blows

MOSCOW, April 21 (AP)—Powerful German tank and infantry attacks have been beaten back by the Red army near the Estonian border town of Narva and at the foot of the Carpathians, more than 800 miles to the south, a Soviet communique announced today.

Planes Pound Nazis in Italy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, April 21 (AP)—Allied planes, diverted temporarily from assaults on Balkan rail targets, smashed at German communications in Italy yesterday, with U. S. heavy bombers blasting Venice harbor and pounding other targets from Ancona to Trieste.

The Monfalcone shipyards near Trieste and the port of Livorno (Leghorn) were attacked.

In all, Allied planes flew more than 2000 sorties, destroying 10 German craft for a loss of eight of their own.

German troops on the right flank of the Anzio beachhead were observed taking up both their own and Allied mines. Although the Anzio front has been quiet, the Germans have been reacting sharply to every Allied move, apparently apprehensive of an attack.

The German blows on the Baltic front, which had been quiet for six weeks, were directed against the Russian bridgehead on the west bank of the Narva river, southwest of Narva, and were preceded by a heavy artillery barrage, the announcement declared.

"The Hitlerites appeared to hope to smash our defenses in one blow, but they miscalculated," the bulletin said. More than 2000 Germans were officially reported led dead on the battlefield and many more slain in repeated attacks.

The German-Hungarian counter-offensive at the foot of the Carpathians, first announced by the Russians two days ago, spread yesterday from the east of Stanislavow to the south, where the Red Army was credited with hurling back furious attacks.

At least 2300 Axis troops were killed, the communique said, but the Germans continued nevertheless to exert "relentless pressure on our positions from two sides" and "violent engagements went on throughout the day."

Grim battles were reported continuing in full swing at the outskirts of besieged Sevastopol, meanwhile, and front dispatches said that thousands of Germans and Romanians drowned in the Black Sea as Soviet bombers and torpedo planes kept up hourly attacks against convoys seeking to reach Romanian ports.

British Press Silent On U. S. Bid for Bases

LONDON, April 21 (AP)—The British press today practically ignored a report a subcommittee of the U. S. House Naval Affairs Committee recommending negotiations for permanent possession of the eight Western Hemisphere Naval bases leased from Britain in 1940 for 99 years.

Japs Open Big Drive in China

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ

Associated Press War Editor

The first large-scale fighting in China since the "rice bowl" battle last fall has flared up in northern Honan Province where powerful Japanese Chinese troops from their stronghold on a 150-mile segment of the important Peiping-Hankow railroad.

Chinese sources today estimated between 50,000 and 60,000 Jap troops are being hurled into the fray. Another enemy column has fought to within six miles of China's east-west Lunghai railway, also in northern Honan Province.

Mitchell medium bombers of the U. S. 14th Air Force bombed and damaged a two-span bridge at Than Moi, 60 miles northwest of Hanoi, in a sweep across French Indo-China Wednesday. Gen Stilwell's headquarters announced.

American fighters strafed and sank a 50-foot ferry at Takaw, Burma, and shot up Jap installations.

The new Japanese offensive in China, possibly to revitalize home-front morale, comes when the Jap invasion into India threatens to reach a stalemate.

With only a few weeks remaining before the monsoon season sets in, the Jap drive has been dulled to such an extent that British troops have relieved the besieged base of Kohima, farthest penetration of the Indian offensive according to Allied reports, and have initiated a strong counter-offensive around Imphal, 60 miles to the south.

The enemy was reported by Allied commanders to be sending reinforcements into the Kohima sector in an attempt to cut the Bengal-Assam railroad and thereby choke off supplies reaching Allied forces attempting to carve a new land supply route to China.

Along Japan's Pacific outposts, Allied air power continued its hammering, featured by the third consecutive daily attack on Owotai island in the western Caroline Islands and the important Satawan airstrip 150 miles southeast of Truk in the eastern Carolines.

Adm. Nimitz told of a 46-ton attack on Truk Wednesday. Other central Pacific planes pounded Ponape, east of Truk.

Argentina Acts on Grain

BUENOS AIRES, April 21 (AP)—The government took control today of all grain elevators and other installations used for the storage and shipping of grain in Argentine ports under terms of a decree classifying such facilities as public utilities.

6 Parties in Badoglio Cabinet

By MICHAEL CHINIGO

NAPLES, April 21 (INS)—Marshal Badoglio formed a new Italian government today, according to membership to representatives of all six anti-Fascist groups in the nation.

Communist Leader Ercole Ercoli was given a post as minister without portfolio, as were Count

Carlo Sforza, former foreign minister, who went into self-imposed exile when Mussolini seized power, and Benedetto Croce, Italy's outstanding liberal and philosopher. The cabinet list was submitted to King Victor Emmanuel for his approval and presumably for that of Crown Prince Umberto, who will take over once the Allies have entered Rome.

The Action party, whose demands imposed considerable initial difficulties, received two ministries—those of education and public works.

"I have every confidence the new government really will accomplish something," Count Sforza said.

The democratic liberals who constituted Badoglio's previous government were ousted from all important places, retaining only two undersecretariats.

In addition to the premiership, Badoglio holds the foreign ministry and is given liberty to retain his former ministers of war, navy and air force. He also retained as finance minister a close associate—Quinto Quintieri.

Liberals were given the ministry of justice and undersecretariats in the ministry of industry and the presidency council. The Christian Democrats were given the ministry of the interior and undersecretariats in the education and industry ministries.

Socialists are represented in the ministries of industry and the interior, while Communists and Labor Democrats received various scattered posts.

Sailor Slayer Of Taxi Man

Dist.-Atty. Edmund R. Dewing of Norfolk County announced today that his office had closed investigation into the Braintree shooting deaths of a West End taxi driver and a Buffalo Navy sailor stationed in Boston, terming it murder and suicide.

The prosecutor, who was with Police Chief John J. Heaney when he made the announcement, said the investigators were satisfied the sailor, Gunner's Mate Howard Joseph Smith, 20, killed Taximan Charles V. Lisitano and then took his own life.

He is not interested in locating the mystery blonde girl in a red coat, supposed to have been with Smith the morning of the shooting, because, Dewing said, he does not believe she could clear up any details of the case.

Smith died last night at the Weymouth Hospital without having regained consciousness. The same gun, a .45-caliber U. S. Army automatic pistol, was used to fire a bullet into the head of each man, declared Capt. Charles E. Van Amburgh, State ballistics expert.

Chief Heaney voiced the theory of murder and suicide, expressing the opinion that Smith may have "gone crazy" while riding in Lisitano's cab with a girl companion. Smith, a veteran of fighting in European waters, was temporarily stationed in Boston. His mother, Mrs. Mary Smith, a widow, of Ryan st., Buffalo, N. Y., described her son as a model boy and revealed he had seemed in the best of spirits when he telephoned her at 10:15 Wednesday night, a few hours before he was shot.

The "girl in red" believed to have been the only witness to Lisitano's slaying, came into the bizarre case when Sidney Yanes, a fellow taxi operator who knew Lisitano intimately, told police he saw her step out of a restaurant in Tyler st., Chinatown, with the sailor about 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

Yanes said the girl, either a blonde or red head wearing a "flaming red" coat with fur collar, and the sailor talked with Lisitano for several minutes.

Then they entered the West End man's cab. Yanes said he recalled the incident and time because his machine was parked in front of Lisitano's, and he moved a few feet in order to give Lisitano room to drive out.

Lisitano's cab went crashing through a fence in South Braintree at 3:40 a. m. according to police timing. He was seated behind the steering wheel, blood flowing from a wound in the head. Some hours later the body of the sailor was found in a field near the Braintree Highlands railroad bridge. He also was shot through the head, and doctors at the hospital found his skull had been fractured in five places. He was given two blood transfusions and injections of glucose.

Spillane told police his assailant jumped on him at Albany and Harvard sts. South End.

Attacked by two "muggers" who beat him severely about the face and head, Michael Spillane, 60, of East Newton st., South End, was robbed of $7 and personal papers early today while on his way home from work at the New Haven railroad freight yards.

Spillane told police his assailants jumped on him at Albany and Harvard sts. South End.

These charges were made today by Gerhart H. Seger, former member of the German Reichstag and now an American citizen and editor of an anti-Nazi German language newspaper.

Seven anti-Nazi German prisoners, Seger declared, have been slain in this country by decree of Nazi "kangaroo courts."

Twenty-five per cent of all German prisoners of war, Seger asserted, are "rabid" Nazis.

A group of American officers was among the guests witnessing the flag presentation.

The young Princess wore her well-known peaked hat, also a diamond brooch with the grenadier badge pinned to a light blue coat. She inspected the band with composed dignity.

Get Real Scare From '18 Grenade

CHICAGO, April 21 (AP)—Excited tenants milled out-doors waiting for an explosion while Theodore Reich stood in the apartment basement with a hand grenade he had found. They wouldn't let him come out.

Finally, Reich escaped through an unwatched door, called police. The weapon was soaked, a detective pulled out the pin, the crowd drew back and waited. There was no explosion. The grenade was of the 1918 variety.

Reich invited everybody to his apartment for coffee.

Cardinal Gains On Second Day

Cardinal O'Connell continued today to rally slightly from the attack of bronchial pneumonia which has rendered him critically ill at his residence in Lake st., Brighton.

His condition, it was announced, is still grave.

Parishioners throughout the diocese will be asked to pray for him at all masses Sunday, his secretary, the Rev. John J. Wright, D. D., announced. Fr. Wright said: "His Eminence passed a comfortable night. Today, although he is still seriously ill, he seemed to be resting comfortably."

Fr. Wright remained at the Cardinal's residence last night. Also there were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Richard J. Haberlin, vicar-general, and the Rt. Rev. Jeremiah F. Minihan, chancellor of the archdiocese, formerly the Cardinal's secretary.

The last rites of the church were given the 84-year-old spiritual leader of the Boston archdiocese, it was reported, and his personal physician, Dr. James P. O'Hare of Bay State rd., and diocesan officials remained in almost constant attendance.

Earlier, the Cardinal was visited by his nephews, Joseph and Philip O'Connell, and by three nieces. Cablegrams from abroad and messages expressing hope for his speedy recovery were received from all sections of the nation.

Meanwhile, a request issued by Msgr. Haberlin for "prayers of the priests and faithful of the archdiocese for the spiritual and bodily welfare of His Eminence" brought immediate response of Catholics everywhere.

Special prayers were offered in parochial schools which are holding classes this week, and thousands of men and women visited churches to ask God's blessing for their beloved prelate. Many

Frown on Plea To Draft Labor

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—A "try-to-get-it" attitude was the reaction of the House Military Committee today to a joint Army-Navy-Maritime commission request for labor draft legislation.

HONORED—Coastguardman Charles H. Thorn, 20, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Thorn of Roxbury, has won commendation for meritorious conduct under fire, it became known today. He has taken part in the North African, Sicilian, Salerno and Anzio landings.

The joint recommendation followed by less than five hours the committee's report on draft deferments generally and 4-F's in particular. Briefly, the committee held that existing law was adequate to allow government agencies to force into limited military service 4-F's and men between 38 and 45 who refuse to take jobs in essential industry when jobs are available.

The committee long has opposed compulsory labor legislation and without its backing such legislation cannot reach the House floor. "We have spoken and we meant what we said," Chairman May (D.) of Kentucky declared when asked if the joint recommendation might persuade the committee to alter its position. "My committee made a report saying we do not need new legislation after hearing heads of the government agencies involved."

"Just why they should wait until right after we have made our report before they make their recommendation is beyond me. If they have any recommendations for legislation they should come to Congress with them."

A Republican viewpoint was voiced by Rep. Harness of Indiana, who said:

"There is no necessity for drafting anybody except for military service. Why don't the Army and the Navy co-operate in trying to place in industry the 75,000 to 80,000 men discharged every month from service and able to work in industry?"

City Hall Flag Honors 1886 in Services

In honor of 1886 city employees now in the armed forces and 14 men who gave their lives, a new service flag flies today above City Hall.

With 334 men in the Army, Navy and Coast Guard, the police department leads all city departments in the number of men in service. The school department with 304 is second, and the fire department third with 250.

Governor Asks All Observe Arbor Day

In a proclamation designating Saturday, April 29, as Arbor and Bird Day, Gov. Saltonstall urges citizens to observe the occasion by planting trees and by resolving to support the forest fire prevention program to protect natural resources from needless waste.

"At this time, more than ever before, we must not waste valuable woodlands so necessary for wild life," the governor said.

3 Tried in Taunton On Fire Alarm Bill

TAUNTON, April 21—Testimony concerning the installation and cost of a fire alarm system in the Bristol County Tuberculosis Hospital in Attleboro five years ago, a job which the state claims cost no more than $800 in comparison with a $2190 bill the county had to pay, marked the trial of three men in superior court today.

The defendants are Dr. William F. Lynch of Somerset, former county commissioner; John E. Grady of Fall River, electrical contractor; and Lawton J. Boudreau of Easton, electrician. They are accused of conspiracy to defraud the county.

Blair H. Parker of Norfolk Downs, an electrician who was indicted with the trio but who pleaded guilty when arraigned, was expected to take the stand as a state witness.

The trial is the first in a series being conducted before Judge Harold P. Williams by Asst. Atty.-Gen. Ralph V. Rogers, who asserted that in the past 12 years Bristol Dist. Atty. William C. Crossley has failed to take action on 53 secret indictments, many against prominent persons.

Stassen Rescue Story Revealed

MADISON, Wis., April 21 (AP)—"We may have rescued the next President," a Wisconsin sailor wrote his parents in a letter describing the rescue at sea of an officer he identified as Lieut. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota Governor and a Republican presidential possibility.

The Navy Department said it had no confirmation of the incident. But at South St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Stassen, wife of the 37-year-old flag officer in Adm. William D. Halsey's South Pacific fleet, said she had "heard something about it."

"I just had a letter from Harold a few days ago and he did say that he had had some interesting experiences, but he didn't tell me anything about the rescue," Mrs. Stassen said. She added that she believed he did not mention the rescue for fear it would cause her to worry.

William Bormett, a former University of Wisconsin athlete, who is a sound man about a submarine, mentioned the incident in three letters.

In a letter to his parents, he said:

"The other day something happened that I think you might be interested in. Just a few weeks ago we were patrolling in front of one of these islands when somebody saw a small boat ahead. We came close and noticed that they were having engine trouble. We took the passengers aboard and one of them was Stassen. I've heard where he's being wanted as a candidate for President. Well, maybe we saved the next one."

Turks Feel War Would Be Immoral

By FRANK O'BRIEN

ANKARA, April 21 (AP)—"If Turkey entered the war without being attacked, it would be the most immoral thing a nation ever did."

That was the key statement in a chance, two-hour talk I had recently with a minor official of the Anatolian town Kizicahannan, 55 miles north of Ankara.

He spoke straight from the heart of what ordinary men and women of Turkey think and believe.

The conversation brought out three main points:

Absolute conviction that Turkey should not enter the war unless attacked;

Great confidence in the government and readiness to do whatever the government considers necessary;

Almost unbounded admiration for, and faith in, the United States.

Shortening of War Seen By Ely With Coalition Chief

Former Gov. Joseph B. Ely believes the war with Germany could be shortened by four months if President Roosevelt would forego plans for 16 years in the White House and name as his successor a coalition leader who would be acceptable to the Republican national convention.

Ely, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, in a radio address, suggested former Sen. Byrnes, Sen. Byrd, James A. Farley, Secretary of State Hull, Alfred E. Smith and Commerce Secretary Jones as possible choices.

"I should expect the Republican national convention to accept his choice so that by July 19 the suspense of a presidential election in the midst of a war would be over," Ely said. "Such a course would tend to seal the fate of Germany four months earlier than by any other method."

The former governor said results of the Wisconsin primary, in which more than 40 per cent of the Democrats there voted against a fourth term, should show the President that re-election is "impossible."

DON GENTILE'S OWN STORY

Combat Cures Homesick Lad

By LEE CARSON

Copyright, 1944, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

AT A U. S. FIGHTER STATION IN ENGLAND, April 21—The brilliantly successful aerial career of Capt. Don Gentile, leading ace of the European war theater, began by virtually "blackmailing" his parents into letting him join the RAF.

"I had a choice," Don disclosed with a grin, "of either signing with the RAF or standing by to be inducted into the U. S. Army via the draft."

His choice was obvious—and he coupled it with a promise to make the name of Gentile a household word.

Don's mother and father backed and filled. Sending their 20-year-old son to the RAF, they saved Don from being an obnoxious character around his home town.

He got anything he wanted from his parents but a level head and a pair of clear-sighted brown eyes kept him from being a "spoiled brat."

Don had a whopping big allowance and could tap his father for extra funds when needed, but he spent sensibly and saved wisely.

Even as his first plane was bought with money saved on dates, Don's postwar plans are backed with some $8000 saved in three years overseas.

"I got swell training in the RAF and my flight lieutenant's commission was right there when the Eagle Squadron was transferred to the American Air Force," Don explained.

Don began to look like good fighter material almost immediately. The RAF sent him to refresher school in California and there he startled his instructors by handling a Hurricane Fighter with the greatest of ease the first time out.

Within two months, Don was pronounced finished and ready for active duty overseas by both the school and RAF inspectors.

Typically, Don took his arrival in war-locked England in his stride and suffered more from eagerness to get going—to get into combat—than from homesickness.

GETS LATEST NEWS

Don's mother, sister and best girl—Marge Dill—write him regularly giving him the latest news and gossip, but Don would like to go home for a month or two, "get a lot of hometown stored up inside of me again and then come back to do some more fighting."

Don is a cool, matured man at 25, who regards flying as a business and fighting as a technique to be studied and learned, not groped for or arrived at by trial and error.

In three years of combat he never had the "whimwhams or jitters," never had to be sent to a "flak farm," the rest home for battle-worn, jittery fliers.

Tightened nerves and tension show around his eyes, in the hollows of his cheeks, and the lines around his firm mouth, but he ridicules the idea that he is overdue for a layoff and should not

Boric Acid Fatal to 4 Stored Near Dextrose

By FRANK DOYLE AND WILLIAM EGAN

NEW YORK, April 21—The boric acid which killed four babies in New London was on the hospital pharmacy floor only four feet from an almost identical container of dextrose for which it was mistaken, the Mirror learned exclusively.

This was revealed as Rep. Bloom (D.) of New York wired the newspaper from Washington that he will introduce legislation "immediately" to require manufacturers and processors to mark boric acid plainly as poison. He called it a "most necessary revision of the food and drug law."

In New London, meanwhile, officials continued their star-chamber inquiry (press and public barred) into the tragic accident that has had repercussions throughout the country. In New York, a check of all hospitals was begun to prevent a similar mistake.

The baby still in serious condition, at the Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospitals in New London, was reported in slightly improved condition tonight.

Despite Coroner McKay's refusal to make public any findings of his investigators "for a week or 10 days," the Mirror learned the 26-year-old woman pharmacist held accountable for the accident has pleaded that she was overworked to the point of exhaustion.

Friends said she is of Polish descent, a graduate of the University of Michigan in the class of 1940, and was licensed as a pharmacist by Connecticut two years ago. A buxom, plain girl, she had an excellent record at the hospital.

Shortly before the tragedy April 3, when the babies were fed boric acid in their formula bottles, the girl had appealed to hospital authorities for help, it was revealed. A porter was assigned to assist her.

The boric acid and dextrose were in similar brown cardboard, 25-pound containers, four feet apart, on the floor of the pharmacy. Labels on both containers were the same size. One read "acid, boric, for external use only." The other, "dextrose, and hydrosol." In their position on the floor, under shelves containing other bags and bottles, it was virtually impossible to read the labels without stooping.

Bar Wood Leg Dancing Cop

KANKAKEE, Ill., April 21 (AP)—Police Sgt. Bert Luckey will be on regular duty tonight—his night off—says Acting Chief Elmer Nelson.

Luckey, protesting, told the chief he had planned to attend the annual police dance. "That's just it," said Nelson. "I don't want you at the dance. You almost caused a panic at the dance last year." The acting chief recalled that at the 1943 party Luckey, who has an artificial leg, was dancing when it fell off. He said the wooden leg, equipped with ball-bearings at the joints, rolled all over the ballroom floor and tripped half a dozen dancers. Other dancers, stepping on the ball-bearings, also hit the floor.

fly in combat for several months.

He seems slimmer than he actually is, because he is so well-proportioned and solidly-built. A wandering movie scout who spotted him in a newsreel offered him a screen test movie contract but Don's not having any of "that stuff—at least not while there's a war on."

After a mission, Don looks almost twice his real age, and his voice is that of a much older man. But when he tries to explain why he feels grateful to the country of his birth, how he knows that "every man can be his own boss in America if he wants to be," his voice is that of an uncertain young boy.

But he will go home a sober adult with an increasing interest in the postwar world, his own chances of getting ahead in that world, and "other guys' chances, too."

(Tomorrow: In the final chapter, Lee Carson discusses Don Gentile's chances of continuing to pile up his record-breaking score of enemy planes.)

Wayland Navy Flier Honored as Hero

For his heroism in risking his life to save a ship from fire and explosion at a New Caledonia base, Lieut. Joseph W. Hirth, 33, of Wayland, has been awarded the Navy and Marine Corps Medal, according to a Navy announcement.

His citation stated that Lieut. Hirth, a naval pilot, made his way through flames and explosions, when fire destroyed a pier, and helped direct the removal of a merchant vessel to a safe place.

Woman Shot Dead By Her Daughter, 8

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 21 (AP)—Mrs. W. B. Darnell, 35, wife of a soldier, was shot in the abdomen and fatally wounded by her eight-year-old daughter Shirley this afternoon, city police Patrolman G. R. H. Peterson reported.

But Don had a lifelong record of getting his own way and after two weeks of cajoling, arguing, threatening and minor blackmail, Papa Gentile sighed heavily, signed the papers, and did his best to comfort plump, doe-eyed Mrs. Gentile.

When other kids in his home town—Piqua, O.—were getting their first car, usually a fourth or fifth hand model, Don was already flying his own plane. He also had the use of the family car. He had a closetful of sports jackets, slacks, the prettiest girl in high school, and a flock of admiring contemporaries.

Held in Death Of K.O. Drop Girl

CINCINNATI, April 21 (INS)—George L. Lawson, 41, wanted in connection with the death of Mrs. Bobbie Allen Lawson in a downtown St. Louis hotel room, surrendered to FBI agents and waived extradition to Missouri.

The woman found dead in St. Louis was believed to be the Bobbie Allen known to Chicago police as the "knockout drop girl" who on several occasions was charged with luring out-of-town playboys to her room, drugging them and taking their wallets.

Lawson, who has been arrested 25 times in Cincinnati since 1922 and is known to police as "Pug-nose Whitey," has been sought since Wednesday after he testified at an inquest in St. Louis in connection with the death of Bobbie Allen, believed to be his wife.

Legion Calls Halt Truck Strikers On G-I Bill Stalling Move War Goods

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21—American Legion officials, who have spearheaded the fight for passage of the omnibus "G-I bill of rights" for more than five months, today called on state departments and local posts throughout the country to demand that Chairman John E. Rankin of the House veterans' committee stop stalling action on the measure.

In a message to Legion department commanders and adjutants, Francis M. Sullivan, national legislative directive of the organization, said:

"Chairman Rankin is opposed to the unemployment-title of our bill. You have done magnificent work, but I would appreciate numerous telephone calls, telegrams or air mail letters to your members of the House, insisting the committee cease delay and report out the bill without substantial change in any title."

Protests in Washington and major American cities against Cong. Rankin's obstructionist tactics were equalled by military spokesmen here and an authoritative voice of the nation's fighting men, The Army Times, lashes at the Mississippi representative in its editorial columns.

The Army Times, largest of all service publications, says:

"Cong. Rankin, don't you think it is time to quit stalling?"

"The G-I bill of rights has been in the veterans' legislation committee, of which you are chairman, since Jan. 10. The majority of the committee have stated that they favor the bill. Why, Cong. Rankin, haven't you introduced it on the floor of the House?"

The editorial goes on to point out that the Senate passed the measure unanimously, over 2,000,000 persons have signed petitions favoring the legislation and the entire nation wants the bill adopted.

On the floor of the House, Rankin, nettled by questions of House Minority Leader Martin of Massachusetts as to why the bill was delayed, said he had no intention of introducing it this week or next.

Citrus Juices Go Off Ration

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Price Administration announced the removal from rationing of concentrated citrus juices.

Used principally by beverage makers and for other industrial purposes, these juices, OPA said, are in good supply because of expanded production facilities and lighter lend-lease requirements.

Production of types of juices bought by the public will not be affected by the action, the agency stated.

SPRINGFIELD, April 21—War

freight tied up in the strike of trucking company employees was moved by strikers today, but union spokesmen said workers would refuse to touch other commodities until firms complied with a War Labor Board directive to grant a retroactive pay increase, vacations with pay, and over-the-road expenses.

A charge that trucking managements were "hiding" some war freight material that should be moved was made by Edward A. Clampitt, business agent of the Teamsters and Helpers Local, AFL. He said he visited depots with an Army officer and that strikers moved all war material that was released.

Workers of the Seaboard Freight Co. went back to work after officials of the concern agreed to comply with the WLB order.

'Dynamite' Landing Of Hero Flier Told

How the flying skill of Maj. Earl D. Carlson, 26-year-old Newton airman, saved the lives of his crew after a bomb load became stuck in the external rack of his Flying Fortress and was in imminent danger of blowing up, was described today in a press dispatch from England.

Joseph Willcombe, Jr., International News Service staff correspondent, related that when Maj. Carlson returned to his station after blasting a target in northwestern France, the entire personnel of the base turned out to witness his landing.

Bursting flak had ruined the mechanism of Maj. Carlson the big plane's external bomb rack, preventing several of the bombs from being dropped.

The slightest jarring of the bombs in the landing would have meant certain destruction of the Fortress and death to the crew, Willcombe said, and the right side of the plane's windshield had been splintered.

However, Maj. Carlson headed into a drift wind and made a perfect three-point landing. Emerging from the cockpit, the hero pilot modestly declined to accept credit for his achievement, saying:

"The wind over the target was stronger than we expected, so we had to make a second bomb run and that flak burst on the second trip was too close for comfort."

"The success of the landing is directly due to the mechanical genius of Capt. Cooney Hunt (of Angier, N. C.) our group engineer. My ship is in perfect condition. Otherwise, the landing mightn't have been so successful."

Maj. Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Carlson of Adena rd., West Newton, is a graduate of Huntington School, Back Bay, and left the University of Maine in 1939 to join the Air Corps.

His wife, Mrs. Pearl B. Carlson, and their two daughters, Judith, 2, and Paula, 10 months, reside in Lake ter., Newton Center.

Nazi Fighter Excels Jap, Tregaskis Says

NEW YORK, April 21 (INS)—The Japs are tough, but the Germans are a lot smarter. Man for man, the Nazis are the most formidable of our two Axis opponents, in the opinion of Richard Tregaskis, ace war correspondent for International News Service.

Tregaskis, veteran of both the South Pacific and the European theaters of conflict, wrote in the

Dick Tregaskis

Cosmopolitan Magazine that if the Germans had been defenders on Guadalcanal, American troops might still be fighting there.

"The Jap is a dangerous foe, stubborn and suicidally dangerous," he stated. "But he is not so dangerous as the German. The German brain, guiding him and equipping him with excellent weapons, is superior to the Jap's will to die, however determined that will may be."

One of the most striking comparisons between the Jap and German armies is noticeable in their air operations, Tregaskis pointed out.

"Unlike the Japs," he said, "the German pilots certainly know what to do in the air, and their planes do not fall apart on slightest provocation. Many a gunner in a Flying Fortress in England has commented to me on the skill of the German pilots and on the speed of the ME109 and FW190, the staple German fighter planes."

"Col. Al Key, who has flown in both the south Pacific and European theaters, puts it this way: 'You can keep firing as long as you like, but it's pretty hard to hit a German plane in a vital spot.'"

The Japs aren't very ingenious in their air war either, the author of "Guadalcanal Diary," said.

"They haven't added a thing to aviation technology since the war began, while the Nazis contrived the rocket projectile as a defense against heavy aerial raids, the oil bomb and the glider bomb."

"Considering all of these things," Tregaskis wrote, "it is not surprising the impressive scores run up by American pilots against the Japanese—sometimes 10 or 11 Japanese planes shot down for every American machine lost—are not equalled in combat with the Germans."

The same theory holds good for artillery, he added.

Pickets Ring Ford of Canada

WINDSOR, Ont., April 21 (AP)—Picket lines ringed the huge Ford Motor Co. of Canada plant here today and plant operations were at a standstill, with about 14,000 employees affected.

The work stoppage started yesterday when day-shift workers left their jobs at 11 a. m. for a "half holiday" in a protest over grievance procedure.

A little later the company notified the union—Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America (C. I. O.)—that it was terminating the collective bargaining agreement in effect here since Jan. 15, 1942.

The company said in a statement the "general strike" was a breach of that contract.

MOTHER-IN-LAW CHEERS LONG SOUGHT RELIEF!

Had Been "Irregular" for Years!

Have you often despaired of ever finding normal regularity? Then, by all means, read this unsolicited letter:

"For many long years, my mother-in-law had suffered from common constipation. She used to take all kinds of pills and medicines, but got no lasting relief. Upon starting to use KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, her trouble cleared up. She feels like a new person, she says. She wanted me to tell the world how your product helped her." Mrs. Polina Balis, 734 East 16th Street, Bronx, N. Y.

How do scientists explain the apparent "magic" of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN's relief? Simply this: ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of "cellulose" elements — lack of which in sufficient amounts in the diet is a common cause of constipation! These elements help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and lighten the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN doesn't work by "purging"—or by "sweeping you out." It is a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If this is your trouble eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water! See if you don't find the welcome relief you've hoped for! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Youth, Girl Oratory Champs

By FRED CURRAN

NEW YORK, April 21—Two challenging young Americans—proud, talented and as fiercely pledged to democracy as the towering naval genius they honor—today were crowned joint national winners in the monumental John Paul Jones oratorical contest.

Sweeping the field before them in the magnificently fought $20,000 tourney, in the presence of a distinguished and cheering overflow throng, in a lavish setting provided by foremost stars of opera, stage and screen, were:

NATIONAL COLLEGE CHAMPION—Tyler MacDonald, U. S. M. C., 20, a student officer at the University of Southern California whose victory in the dress blues of his corps added appropriate emphasis to the victorious naval traditions of Jones.

NATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL CHAMPION—Miss Rae Abruzzo, 17, a student at Brooklyn St. Brendan's Academy, whose impassioned speech won unanimous decision by the panel of distinguished judges of speech.

To each winner of the finals at the WOR Mutual Playhouse on West 49th st. went a $1000 war bond and an all-expense trip to the U. S. Naval Academy—part of the hundreds of equally generous prizes awarded in the contest by the N. Y. Journal-American and affiliated Hearst newspapers from coast-to-coast.

Exceedingly close in the college division were New York's other entrant, Fordham University William J. Lyons, 17, the Bronx, and Joseph W. Schwartz, 18, of Marquette University, Milwaukee.

Similarly close were the two runners-up in the high school section, James W. Cleary, 16, of St. Francis Minor Seminary High School, Milwaukee, and Charles E. Upton, of Castlemont High School, Oakland, Cal.

At the conclusion of the thrill-packed evening the college prize-winner delivered his campaign oration over the nation-wide network of the Mutual Broadcasting Company.

Modestly marked both winners and graciousness in the John Paul Jones manner was typified by the spontaneous exchange of congratulations among the contestants.

Acting as judges at the contest were three of the most distinguished teachers of speech in the East, whose names were announced only after the competition had been concluded. They were: Dr. Wilbur S. Howell, in charge of speech work at Princeton University, Professor Richard C. Reager, chairman of the speech department at Rutgers University, and Reverend Thomas J. Gilhoolley, dean of Seton Law College.

PAIR OF CHAMPS—Waving $1000 war bonds are Miss Rae Abruzzo, 17, a student at St. Brendan's Academy, Brooklyn, and Tyler MacDonald, USMC, 20, a student officer at USC, after being crowned joint national winners of the John Paul Jones oratorical contest ... in finals in New York. They also get all-expense trip to the U. S. Naval Academy.

Aussie Papers Win, Drop Suit

SYDNEY, Australia, April 21 (AP)—Six Australian daily newspapers, suspended by government censors, today agreed to drop injunction proceedings against the censorship office because they have succeeded in publishing the articles which started the controversy.

A crown high court Monday enjoined the censors from suspending publication of the newspapers for printing articles criticizing censorship.

In today's court hearing, the newspapers agreed to allow the injunction to lapse, now that they had published the articles, but left pending their proposed court action to test legality of censorship regulations. No date has been set for a hearing on this broad question.

Reds Control Labor Party, Pilot Asserts

Wallace Carries Pledge to Chiang

Through efforts of a "few glib talkers, a minority within a minority," Communists are in control of New York's American Labor Party, the Pilot will say editorially tomorrow, with a warning that the "legions of subversion are resourceful, industrious and unscrupulous."

"It is generally conceded now that Communists control the American Labor Party in New York," the editorial will state. "This is significant news, news which the radio vigilantes who are shrilly tracking down 'Fascist' influences in this country have overlooked."

"The recent primaries were a test of strength between right wing and left wing elements. After this event Americans in the party, those members who acknowledge the United States, not Soviet Russia, as their first allegiance, left the organization. As men of principle, they had no other recourse."

SEES DEATH OF PARTY
"That Communists in New York, the Hillman faction did succeed in capturing the American Labor Party in New York, is not an assertion of 'Red-baiters.' It is the candid report of political commentators who know their business."

"This will probably mean that a political party, which has in the past scored some notable gains for labor and might have been useful in the future, has been killed."

"Real labor men are quitting the group. Their interest is the welfare of labor. And they know that in practical effect the Communist has not the slightest influence in labor. His first loyalty is to Stalin—who has ruthlessly liquidated every attempt at labor organization in Russia. Erick and Aller are names labor ought to remember."

"Now how did Communists achieve such startling success in the New York primaries? The answer is well worth study. It evokes echoes of the trite but everlastingly valid truism—that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

MINORITY CARRIED DAY
"Communists organized! And Communists worked! They attended union meetings. At these assemblies they were vocal. Skill in parliamentary procedure is a part of Communist training—men who saw clearly what was being done sat helplessly simply because they dreaded the embarrassment of public speaking."

"So a few glib talkers, a minority within a minority, carried the day."

"The lesson is obvious. The legions of subversion are resourceful, industrious and unscrupulous. We need not emulate the evil of their methods. But we must match their vigilant seizure of every opportunity with an equal vigilance of our own."

"It can happen here. And if it does, we shall have no one to blame but ourselves."

Jewelry Fence Gets 4 Years

Found guilty of receiving $22,000 worth of stolen jewelry, Daniel Giano, 50, of Parsons st., Brighton, manager of the Little Dixie night club, Massachusetts ave., South End, today was sentenced in Dedham Superior Court to serve four to five years in State Prison.

James F. Whigham, 17, Crafts rd., Brookline, and John Gochakowski, 18, Leverett st., West End, who pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the Chestnut Hill home of Louis Silin and stealing the jewelry, were each given indeterminate terms at Concord Reformatory.

In asking substantial sentence on the night club manager, Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing termed Giano a "professional fence," and asserted the youths knew "where to go right way on learning the value of the property."

FREEDOM of motion . . .

Not one of the freedoms covered by the Atlantic Charter but a very important freedom to your everyday comfort and disposition. Freedom of motion is one of the extras that you always get with a Kennedy suit and a Kennedy fit. Drinking a glass of water can be a very discomforting effort if your suit has not been tailored to give you room through the shoulders and in the arms. It takes careful designing—expert cutting and stitching and a correct fit to let you move at will without binding or restriction. Kennedy suits provide for the freedom of motion so necessary during these active war time days—suits that interfere with your freedom of motion wear out more quickly. When you buy a suit buy quality—buy Kennedy quality.

Clothing Ablaze, Runs Into Brook

Quick thinking saved a gasoline truck driver from death today near the Randolph-Milton line. With his clothing ablaze, when his truck caught fire, Harry Rooney, 20, Pleasant ave., Somerville, dashed into a nearby brook.

A passing motorist took him to Milton police station, from where Officers James J. Parrell and William H. Coughlin rushed him to Milton hospital. He was later sent to Massachusetts General hospital, where it was hoped burn-treatment learned from care of Coconut Grove victims, would save Rooney's life.

$3000 in Jewels Lost and Found!

Patrolmen who received a frantic call today from Aaron Zaslow, a Bronx jewelry salesman, who said he had lost his case containing $3000 worth of watches and rings, had almost conceded defeat in their search when a coincidence placed the valuables right in their hands.

A search of the Summer st. cafeteria where Zaslow breakfasted revealed no sign of the case. A careful check of streets to the South Station and the station itself also produced nothing.

Then, as the police were passing a Summer st. cigar store, Clerk Catherine Epstein of Intervale st., Roxbury, ran to them holding a case.

"Some customer left this here this morning. Can you find him?" she said.

They could, and did, in less than five minutes. It was Zaslow's.

Bricker Talks Facts

GOVERNOR BRICKER of Ohio, as a Republican presidential candidate, is winning the profound and respectful interest of the American people, if not of the politicians.

Governor Bricker is the type of candidate more likely to impress the people than the politicians.

He is frankly and honestly more interested in impressing the people than the politicians.

He has said many times his ambition to be President is wholly secondary to his earnest and anxious concern for the future of our democratic American institutions.

His concern for these vital institutions of America was soundly and forthrightly expressed in his Seattle address.

He said one of the great dangers to these institutions is that shortsighted government policies may compel the American West Coast to carry the brunt of the Pacific war, while permitting Eastern industrial areas to convert to peacetime production.

"The West Coast should not be burdened with continued war production while the rest of the country reconverts to peace," said Governor Bricker.

"This will be a danger to be guarded against when Germany has been defeated and the nation turns its attention to the final knockout of Japan.

"The reconversion of our industrial establishment from the production of war to peace goods will present many serious problems.

"The Government's policy in handling these problems will determine whether the reconversion period will be short or long.

"It will be the Federal Government primarily that will determine whether the dislocations and unemployment resulting from the change-over shall be kept at a minimum.

"If the Government fails, reconversion will be slow and painful, unemployment will be serious, and our entire economy may be affected for a long time to come."

THE reason for Governor Bricker's fear that the present national Administration, if continued in power for a full 16-year term, will try to conduct the war against Japan as a HALF-WAR is not hard to find.

The Roosevelt Administration has consistently failed to recognize the seriousness of the Pacific and Asiatic War and the menace of Japanese aggression to our AMERICAN interests.

It has allocated only fractions of our American forces and war production to the Pacific.

After all our disappointments, defeats and disasters in the Pacific this is still the policy of the Roosevelt Administration, as General Douglas MacArthur emphasized in saying:

"Over here we are doing what we can with what we have."

"I will be glad, however, when more substantial forces are placed at my disposition."

Hence, there is a natural fear, as Governor Bricker indicates, that the Roosevelt Administration, after there is no longer an excuse to divert our major production to Europe, will continue to divert it from the Pacific war.

That is what Governor Bricker means when he says there is DANGER that the brunt of the Pacific war will fall on the West Coast while the rest of the country converts to peace.

That would be infinitely more than an injustice to the West Coast.

It would prolong the Pacific war.

It would intensify the hardships and increase the cost.

And it would reduce, if not actually preclude, our chance of victory in the Pacific war.

THE Roosevelt Administration takes too narrow a view of the great war in which we are now involved.

Its spokesmen often speak of the global nature of the war. But they do not seem to know the meaning of the term.

They treat it as a periodic European conflict of power politics, and see in it nothing but a customary European quarrel; when in reality it is a fundamental conflict of creeds and races and systems and a struggle of opposing civilizations for survival.

Governor Bricker sees the TRUE global nature of the war.

He knows where America's vital interests are involved. And he believes America's major effort should be exerted fully in behalf of those interests.

50-Passenger Planes

R. DIXON SPEAS, American Airlines official, has given us an interesting picture of postwar aviation.

By 1950, Mr. Speas recently informed a Boston conference, giant transports carrying fifty or more passengers in club-car luxury will fly hourly from Boston to Los Angeles.

We would like to note that Mr. Speas regards Boston as a logical airline terminal.

Too many aviation authorities insist on making us play a weak second-fiddle to New York.

It would be worth while for Governor Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin to devote more time and energy to publicizing the unique advantages of the Boston Airport.

WASHINGTON, April 21—My mother, who has always exhorted me to choose nice companions and shun evil ones, will no doubt be glad to learn that I have been hanging around with the Archbishop of York.

I am almost certain that he is a good influence and that a change in me will be soon noticeable—possibly even to the naked eye. The way I feel about it, it doesn't hurt anybody to go around with an archbishop now and then, particularly as there is little danger of it becoming habit-forming.

The full title of our distinguished visitor is the Most Reverend and Right Honorable Cyril Forster Garbett, Archbishop of York. For the benefit of my lay readers the only part of the name he started with was Cyril Forster Garbett, as, of course, no one has ever christened Archbishop of York. I trust this is instructive and informative as well as interesting.

He did not acquire the title until he became a primate. I see, by the dictionary, that I am a primate too, but I do not wish to crowd this thought because it is a thing that can be kicked around something awful.

What really warmed me to the Archbishop in the first place was a picture of him in the paper looking practically ecstatic at the signing of the name here. He was beaming upon Vice-President Wallace, who took time off from his Chinese lessons to throw out the first ball.

"MY GOODNESS!" I said, always watching my language when thinking about an archbishop. "The Most Reverend and Right Honorable looks as if he were having quite a time for himself. But how could he possibly get to be a baseball fan?"

The more I got thinking about this the more I got confused about it, so I finally went

Thorns and the rose, the bees their honey hide
And lovers' quarrels lead to keener joys.

The love that's half refused inflames the more,
Sweetest the kiss that's stolen from the weeping maid.

—CLAUDIANUS.

CLAUDIANUS, one of the leading horses and women experts of the fifth century, seems to have been suffering from a slight confusion of thought when writing the above. However, the suggestion in the third line is worth the careful consideration of feminine subscribers. It reveals the "hard to get," or "she didn't say yes and she didn't say no" technique, has been in use for at least 1500 years. And it still works. . . . Are you one of the Americans who still roll their own cigarettes? How quickly can you roll a smoke? A resident of Pomona, Cal., states: "My sister-in-law has been rolling her own cigarettes for 40 years. She can roll one in five seconds!" . . . Remember my telling you I lost my overcoat in Kansas City? It was found and sent to me by express. My lost and found record is very good. I have found everything I have lost so far except a cigar case that disappeared in 1928. And what a beautiful case that was! Bought it at a bargain, but it would now be worth about $30.

ASIDES: What United States grandmother has the most fighty grandsons? It certainly must be Mrs. E. M. Payne of Chattanooga, Tenn., who has 19 grandsons in the armed forces. . . . Eighty-one per cent of American homemakers are still doing all their own housework, despite the fact that thousands of them are also working in war plants. How can they call the female weaker sex when a woman can work eight hours a week?

up to the British embassy, where the Archbishop has been given a flop during his stay in Washington. I understand he is not being charged anything as Lord Halifax considers it would be out of place to go to an archbishop and say: "This is Saturday—and please kick in with the room rent."

I put the question bluntly to the Archbishop:

"What do you think of baseball?"

I will now give you his reply. He said:

"I very much enjoyed my first visit to a baseball game. I am afraid I did not have the expert knowledge which would have enabled me to appreciate the niceties of the game and the skill of the players."

"However, coached by Vice-President Wallace and Senator Connally, I was able to understand what was going on. I like the quick movement of the game and the skill of the throwing, and, above all, the enthusiasm of the crowd."

I tried to comfort the Archbishop on his lack of inside baseball dope, but I am afraid

I only left him bewildered. "Please do not feel too badly because you do not have the expert knowledge to appreciate the skill of the players," I said. "Bill Terry never seemed to pick it up either."

WHENEVER a reporter covering the House of Representatives wishes to interview a member who happens to be on the floor at the time he goes down to the cloakrooms on the second floor and communicates his desire to a page.

These page boys are very polite and helpful. Also, they are ordinarily models of decorum and maintain a serene dignity that somehow makes you feel gauche, if not downright loutish.

Yesterday, however, it was pleasant and reassuring to see a young man who wouldn't take much more. If I wasn't so hard-boiled, my heart would have bled for him, particularly when I heard him blurt:

"How do they expect me to run the House of Representatives with only five pages?"

I COMMISERATED with young Mr. Ethington, saying I could well appreciate his plight. Then I inquired the cause of the sudden youth-power shortage.

"Oh," he replied, "one of the boys just broke out with the hives!"

A FEW MINUTES later the hives' victim returned to his post. He turned out to be 14-year-old Jack Dilweg, son of Representative Lavern R. Dilweg (D.) of Wisconsin.

"What brought on this sudden attack of the hives which has so distressed you and your associates?" I asked.

"I have just been down to see Dr. George W. Calver, the House medical officer," said young Mr. Dilweg, importantly. "He informs me that I am allergic to shrimp."

tion is interesting to note that the Philadelphia Eagles, professional football team, is reported to have 11 4-F men on its contract list for next season. It is still difficult for many people to understand why a man who is physically fit enough to play professional football could not be used by the armed forces in some way.

ASIDES: At the age of 47, Mrs. Peter Christopher of Winthrop gave birth to a bouncing male child. It was her 11th blessed event. It took place 31 years ago. The mother and son are still enjoying good health. This seems to indicate it is not only possible for a woman in her late forties to have a child, but is not dangerous for her. . . . As for a toast to a special friend, you can hardly beat Lord Byron's toast to Tom Moore:

Were it the last drop in the well,
And I gapsed upon the brink
Ere my fainting spirit fell,
'Tis to thee that I would drink.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Several clients wish to wager the Batting in Batting Nelson's name is a nickname.

That the great fighter's name is really Oscar Matthew Nelson. Gentlemen, save your stogies. Nelson's real name is Batting. He was christened Batting Oscar Matthew Nelson. The Batting was chosen by his father and the Oscar Matthew by his mother. . . . "So there is not in activity that can be named in which there is not a famous man who comes from Brooklyn!" writes a Bostonian, "Name playright from Brooklyn."

I name Moss Hart, author or co-author of "Once in a Lifetime," "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "You Can't Take It With You," "Winged Victory," etc. Instead of sending me a stogie, let me have one of those celebrated Boston cigars.

She is still asking her audiences: "When did you first see me as an entertainer?" and giving a prize for the person going farthest back. Fact is, Sophie first appeared as a singer in her father's cafe in Hartford, Ct., in 1905. One more year and it will be her 40th anniversary as an entertainer! In 1907, she appeared in a cabaret on 40th st., Manhattan; after that at the Family Theater, 125th st., Harlem.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 21—I was surprised when I met Robert Walker to find he looks even younger in real life than he does on the screen. He was very happy when Mervyn Leroy introduced us, for he had just been told that he is to co-star with Judy Garland in "The Clock." Judy is a favorite of his and, moreover, he feels it's a big opportunity.

Judy, too, is happy over the selection of Bob, for they have become good friends since his break with Jennifer Jones. "The Clock," by Pauline and Paul Gallico, is the dramatic story of a soldier on 48 hours' leave who watches families greet their returning servicemen while he knows no one. He meets the girl in the station and marries her. Robert Nathan has prepared the script and both Arthur Freed, the producer, and Judy, the star, forget music—a new departure for both.

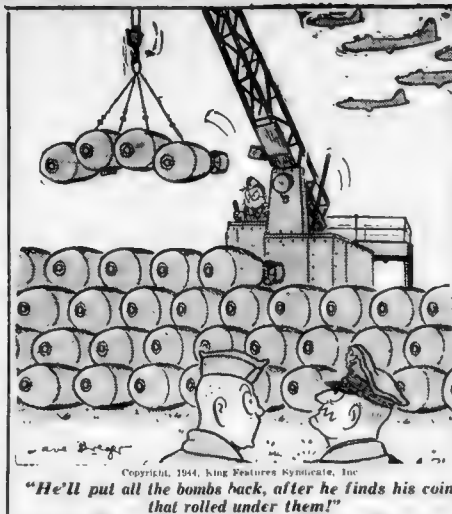

INTERESTING that American motion pictures are now being dubbed in Italian after two years of no American pictures in Italy. I know because I had dinner with Greer Garson and Lieut. Richard Ney and their cook and maid, who are Italian-born, went to M-G-M to see Greer in the Italian version of "Random Harvest." Greer said she'd love to hear herself spouting Italian. Lieut. Pat di Cicco, who has gained weight since he came to sunny California after his serious illness in the hospital, and his bride, Gloria Vanderbilt, were the other guests. Pat couldn't say enough nice things about Gloria. He said that she was so devoted, and did Red Cross work all the time he was in the hospital to be by his side. His recovery is really remarkable and speaks well for the skill of the doctors now caring for our sick boys.

WHEN I SAW Rence De Marco dancing with her husband, Jody Hutchison, good-looking six-footer, I wondered why some movie company didn't grab him. His dancing may not be in the class of Tony De Marco's, but he is certainly a good-looking. Well, Warners have signed him. So that means breaking up the team of De Marco and Hutchison and the cancellation of $25,000 worth of contracts. Charles Yates, talent scout who discovered Robert Alda, is given credit for bringing Hutchison to the attention of Jack Warner.

THE MOST laugh provoking, guffaw-getting imitation in town is done by Miss Geraldine Jessel (age 20 years)—not of her old man but of Eddie Cantor. Geraldine is the daughter of Lois Andrews and George Jessel and right now she's staying with her father. George's pals have been giving her a dollar to do her fabulous Cantor routine, but it is so good George, acting as her agent, demands five dollars for her War Bond bank!

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: I happened out at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios just as Colleen Moore was visiting Mervyn Leroy on the set of "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo." What a reunion! She gave him his first chance to direct, "It was a First National." Mervyn reminisced, "Colleen had enough faith in me to let me direct her in 'Oh Kay,' and Al Green helped me put it over." Mervyn, I'll say for him, never forgets a friend, and he put down the velvet carpet for Colleen. She met all the new young stars—Van Johnson and the rest. Van told me it was such a thrill to meet her because she had been a favorite of his in the old days.

ORRY KELLY was back on the Warner lot and everyone was glad to see him. He was there to do Bette Davis' costumes for "The Corn Is Green." When Orry left Warner's, Bette insisted that he, and only he, do her clothes. He's been designing them for years and she's crazy about them. And, since Bette gets everything she wants well, she got Orry. He has also signed a contract for two pictures with 20th.

free so she can marry him; two stys are causing "M-G-M headaches"—Walter Pidgeon is off the "Mrs. Parkington" set for a few days and Spencer Tracy had to leave "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo" for the same reason; Anita Colby has moved in with Patricia Smart, who is so heart-broken since her husband left home that she won't go anywhere; Susan Peters is home, but so ill she won't be able to return to the studio for eight weeks; Mary Parker, the little dancer, leaves for Seattle May 5 to visit her fiancé, Lieut. Richard Walker, and to set their wedding day; T. Hayes Hunter, veteran director, passed away in England, according to word received by Carlyle Blackwell.

ARTIE SHAW was on the 20th lot and may make a picture there. He has bought a home in Beverly Hills for his wife and baby; Gloria and Lieut. Pat di Cicco are staying with Gloria's mother and aunt, Gloria Vanderbilt and Lady Furness; Bob Hope nearly died laughing when he heard that Bing Crosby had bought a Tennessee walking horse. "Good Heavens," Bob exploded, "that's all he's got!" Dave Willock, often called Frank Sinatra's double, has welcomed his third child. That's one up on Frankie; Susan Hayward and Bob Lowry a Brown Derby duel; Olivia De Havilland caught a bad cold in the Aleutians and was flown back with a nurse in attendance; William Peirce, well-known publicity man, has joined the new Bing Crosby organization and it's nice for them and for him. That's all today.

British Troops Act in Strikes

LONDON, April 21 (AP)—British soldiers again took buses and army trucks out of London's bus routes today as a transport strike continued despite a decision last night of about 500 bus drivers and conductors to return to their jobs. Approximately 1300 bus employees quit yesterday in protest against summer schedules which they said spread their hours over too long a period.

Troops also took over the Manchester gas works, where 500 employees quit yesterday and left 220,000 consumers in the factory area without gas.

Technicians were dispatched to the plants to instruct the soldiers in their jobs and it was hoped the flow of gas would be resumed shortly. Munitions works, aircraft factories, mills and hospitals all were without gas in the city of 766,000 population.

Approximately 400,000 British railroad workers have been granted pay increases of $1 per week, bringing their total wartime raises to about $3 weekly.

The new increases, announced last night under an agreement negotiated between the railways and union representatives, will cost the companies about $290,000,000 per year. The unions had asked for wage boosts of $2.40 per week.

Expert Says Don't Cover Early Seeds to Deeply

By FOSTER H. WEISS

(Head, Market Garden Department, Norfolk County Agricultural School, and director of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser demonstration garden on Boston Common.)

Victory gardeners whose land has dried out may now safely plant their first vegetables of the season, such as peas, beans and spinach. Care must be taken not to cover these early seeds too deep.

Plant peas first is the usual practice with most gardeners. You have only a limited amount of time to get this crop in if it is going to be worth while. Under most conditions it does not yield well if planted after the first of May. The earlier the better. There is quite a variation of opinion as to planting peas, but the method that seems to give the best results is to open a furrow about 4-5 inches deep and plan to seed in this furrow spacing the seeds about one inch apart. Cover the seeds only about one inch at planting time and gradually fill the furrow while cultivating. This gets the roots deeper and they will stand the heat a little longer.

Beet seed for the early crop can also be planted now. With this crop keep in mind only a shallow mark is necessary. Run your garden line and then make the furrow with the back of a rake or hoe handle. The seed should not be covered more than $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch, but the soil must be firmed over the seed.

This crop seems to give beginners more trouble than any other in germinating, and in most cases can be traced to poor planting. Remember that you can sow this seed a little thick as the thinnings will make excellent greens.

Spinach is another cool crop that must be started early to be satisfactory. Sow in shallow furrows about the same as beets. Fifteen to twenty seeds per foot is the usual amount.

F.D. Still Silent on Running-Mate

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
WASHINGTON, April 21 (INS)—Highest New Dealers, who believe President Roosevelt must run for 16 years in the White House, are authority today for declaring that he has made no choice as yet of a running-mate for the 1944 campaign.

This leaves Vice-President Henry A. Wallace with a chance of again being Mr. Roosevelt's fellow nominee.

Two new names are being discussed in New Deal circles—Henry J. Kaiser, the shipbuilder, and Undersecretary of State Edward Stettinius, Jr.

Others previously mentioned included Speaker Sam Rayburn, Sen. Harry Truman, of Missouri, Associate Supreme Court Justice

Frank Murphy, of Michigan; Sen. A. B. "Happy" Chandler, of Kentucky, and Foreign Economic Administrator Leo T. Crowley, of Wisconsin.

"Blondie," America's great human interest comic strip, appears every day in the Boston American.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat

Fried Armour's Star Liver Sausage on Potato Cakes! Try It!

There are so many reasons for planning more and more meals around Armour's Star Liver Sausage. First, because it's such a delicious meat—mild and "spready." Second, because it's mighty easy on your meat ration—a low-point meat. Third, because it's wonderfully nutritious—especially rich in vitamins A, B, D, and G... minerals and high quality proteins.

Here's a new recipe for a fine liver sausage main dish for dinner:

To serve five, ask your meat man for ½ lb. of Armour's Star Liver Sausage, cut into 5 thick slices. To make the potato cakes, use 3 cups mashed, seasoned potatoes. Mix the mashed potatoes with ¼ cup finely chopped onions, and one egg yolk. Form into 5 patties. Fry until brown in bacon or sausage drippings. Brown the liver sausage for 2 minutes to the side and place a slice on the top of each patty just before serving.

This recipe was developed in Armour Kitchens to help you get the most enjoyment from your meat ration.

New Record Set In Paper Drive

Virtually assured of establishing a new record for waste paper collections, Boston's April salvage drive closes today with trucks making final house-to-house pickups in Ward 19, Jamaica Plain, Ward 20, West Roxbury and Roslindale, and Wards 21 and 22, Allston and Brighton.

While paper collections for the first 18 wards in the city total 943,485 pounds, as compared with 810,505 last month, officials noted a decrease in the tin can salvage.

Householders in the four wards scheduled for canvass today were reminded to place slips listing their names with their top waste paper bundles so they will be eligible to compete for their ward $25 war bond drawings. The Boston Salvage Committee already has awarded 14 bonds, and eight more will be given out.

In thanking residents for their contribution of paper, Mayor Tobin asserted the monthly collections of paper were "helping in a thousand different ways to defeat our enemies and to hasten the day of victory and peace."

Suburban salvage collections scheduled from tomorrow through Monday include:

April 22—Saturday, Quincy, Wards 2 and 4; Bedford and Ashland, curb collections, paper.

April 23—Sunday, Arlington, Medford and Waltham, central area, by Boy Scouts.

April 24—Monday, Cambridge, house in house paper collection by Boy Scouts.

Writer Says Nazis Unhurt by Bombs

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—Taylor Henry, Associated Press correspondent recently returned from internment in Germany, said repeated bombings of German cities "have not yet done the damage to German industrial production we would like to believe."

Henry, formerly chief of the Associated Press staff at Vichy, told the annual meeting of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York that "the reason for this lies in the German shadow plant system, under which the Germans built enough factories so that, using their total manpower, no German factory would have to work more than one eight-hour shift daily."

"Today, when we bomb a German plant, the workers are moved to another plant which, then, is placed on two eight-hour shifts."

That Closing Sentence

You'll find that a letter ends more gracefully if you don't close it with a sentence beginning with an "ing" word ("hoping," "wishing," and so forth). Also in order to finish the sentence begun with an "ing" word, you must (or should) add "I am".... for example, "Wishing you every happiness, I am, Sincerely yours, Better to write, 'I wish you every happiness.'"

Eyes Demand Extra Care

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

EYE-TENTION... GIRLS! In the maze of this high-tension world, you owe it to yourself... when you're completely weary-eyed... to ease that strain by taking time out for a very pleasant little eye-treatment routine. Have a little something on Winkles, Blinkers and Nods... when you gaze at your "Hunk of Man"... and don't have that droopy dreariness of orbs that fails to express any subtlety other than doggone fatigue and a need for shut-eye... although you've been a good, little girl and had your rest.

For, sleep isn't sufficient antidote for eye-weariness these hectic days of endless doings. Under normal conditions... the tear glands manufacture a slightly saline fluid... which keeps the eyes clean and lubricated. But, when the eyes have been exposed to smoke, dusty wind, sun glare, harsh lights... or overwork... as when aren't these times... you'll find comforting relief in an eye bath... far more effective than a flood of tears and sleep... and, with no lost emotions whatsoever.

Used full strength with an eye cup or dropper... it refreshes poor, tired eyes quick as a wink.

IT'S A TWO-WAY EYE TREATMENT

Then, with a thin film of luscious eye cream gently patted around your eyes... over and under the lids... it requires no massaging for the cream is so rich, so lubricating in itself... you will almost feel the magic of its unguents in the soothing goodness.

Remember, even tiny wrinkles around the eyes are age indicators... but deep lines and crows feet definitely point to fleeting youth. This eye cream... with its rich oils... helps to whisk away these mean intruders... or, if none are yet present... helps to prevent their appearance.

Remember, too, as the warm weather approaches... and as the sun mounts higher in the sky... it will dry out the natural oils and make more prominent those fine lines around the eyes... unless precautions are taken.

For the names of these eye beauty necessities, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Men Love Blueberry Muffins Bride Should Rush Gift Thanks

By MARTHA LEE

IS YOUR HUSBAND a blueberry muffin fan? Most men are. If there is one sure way to please a man no end, it is to give him his fill of blueberry muffins once or twice a week.

Of course, with the victory gardening season coming along, you'll have neither time nor the energy to do a lot of kitchen fussing. But, if you use that new, fully-prepared hot muffin mix you can make delicious blueberry muffins for him quick as magic. Everything is in. All you need to do is add a cup and a half of water and a cup of blueberries to a package, mix and bake. (Use the quick-frozen blueberries that are now point-free.)

Here is a Sunday supper menu in which blueberry muffins fit perfectly:

SUNDAY SUPPER

Cream of Mushroom Soup

Blueberry Muffins

Coffee

CREAM OF MUSHROOM SOUP

1/4 to 1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms
2 tbs. butter or margarine
1 tbs. minced onion
2 tbs. minced celery
2 cups canned chicken broth
2 tbs. flour
1/2 cup milk
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper

Wash, but do not peel the mushrooms. Chop fine and simmer for 5 minutes with 1 tbs. of the butter, the onion, and celery. Add the chicken broth and simmer 10 minutes. Meanwhile melt remaining 2 tbs. of butter in the top of a double boiler over the direct heat. Add the flour, stir until smooth; then add the milk, salt and pepper. Cook the mushroom mixture, heat and serve. Makes 6 servings. Strain if you do not like the bits of mushroom and vegetable in your soup, but these add character to its rather delicate flavor.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Thursday—Yesterday afternoon we went to a tea given by Mr. George Carlin of United Feature Syndicate and Mrs. Carlin. There were a number of interesting people there and I was happy to have this opportunity to see them.

In the evening I attended a special showing of three plays produced by "Stage for Action." This group decided some time that we have a real need for informed and active citizens in this country, and that one way to give people information is to do it painlessly, through the drama. They decided that if the plays were good, people would enjoy them, but they would also get the point and go out and work in their communities on the problems presented.

THEY USE A LITTLE OF THE technique of the "living newspaper," and the audience is made to feel very much a part of the show because its members speak up and take part in the discussion of what is going on on the stage. Not long ago, while giving a play at one of the servicemen's centers, one of the boys who was not part of the cast spoke up from the audience. It started a controversy and the actors entered into it, and I gather it brought out much interesting talk.

Each help from the theater group in the way of writers, musicians and actors has been extended to the four moving spirits of the organization; Donna Keath, who is the chairman; Perry Miller, the executive secretary; Berrille Kerr, production manager; and Elias Goldin, the treasurer. They do not receive salaries, but they would like to be able to have an office of their own and a couple of people on salary who could devote all their time to spreading this activity throughout the nation and establishing it on a firm basis in headquarters in New York.

THE DRAMA CAN MAKE SITUATIONS REAL to people in a way that is hard to do through the written word, except to people who are accustomed to learning that way. Perhaps these scripts produced on the stage will also be given over the radio.

Mr. Fredric March told me last night that he had given one of the plays, titled "They May Win," by Arthur Miller, over the radio. Mr. March was one of the contributors last night. It is a great credit to these young people in the theater who want to do this job as citizens through work in their own profession, and I wish them the best of luck. Black Lace Still Style Tops

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE lace dress for evening is a four-star fashion this spring. Some of the finest models in the very best designer collections are made of lace, and most of them are long evening dresses, not the short kind.

For my part, I think the black lace evening dress is an eternal fashion. I have never seen a time when it wasn't in style, and this spring is no exception. It is even more so, because the designers are going in for making such dresses in such a big way.

A model from one of the big names in fashions is sketched by Miss Dulin. This one is made of black lace, with the waist of pale pink marquisette, on which lace is applied here and there. It is as pretty a frock as you'll find anywhere. It is a dress that can be worn by a woman of any age.

HOLLYWOOD, April 21—Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon have just finished doing a scene for "Mrs. Parkington," and watching them on the set with me is Robert Thoreen, who co-authored the screen play with Polly James. Pidgeon walks over and says: "Robert, I have a T. L. for you."

"What is it," said Thoreen. Whereupon Pidgeon says: "I have been in this business of making faces for some time, and most of the scenarios that are handed to me give me a great feeling of security."

"How's that?" asked Thoreen. "Well," continued Pidgeon, "most of the scripts are junk. And I have decided that when I get too old to be a lover in pictures I'll become a screen writer." Thoreen merely smiled. "Before reading a scenario," continued Pidgeon, "I always give it to Mrs. Pidgeon to read first. I like to hear what she has to say. Well, I gave her your script, and after reading it she returned it to me, saying: 'Read this, and then tell me if you feel secure for your old age.'"

Thoreen smiled again, but it was a different kind of smile. Pidgeon, the would-be author, went back to play a scene with Greer Garson. Thoreen turned to me and said: "Actors are funny people. I understand them because I used to be an actor. You can never depend on what they're going to do or say. Often an actor will threaten to quit if he can't have his way. But I remember, back in Budapest, an actor who had an argument with the manager. This actor said: 'I'm not going to get my salary, I'm not going to get off the stage.' He got his salary to get off."

ANNE BAXTER and Ralph Bellamy are getting ready to play a scene for "Guest in the House."

This picture is being directed by Lewis Milestone and is being produced by Hunt Stromberg. This is not their initial association. Many years ago, back in the silent picture days, a director had a good story idea for a film to team the then popular Douglas McLean and Doris May. He met an ambitious young screen writer who outlined the way he thought the story should be handled, and the two of them went to work on the picture. The director was not Milestone, but Stromberg, and the writer was Milestone, who was then trying to be a writer.

A few months ago, this Douglas McLean-Doris May picture was the attractive "Movie," where they show old silent pictures, and Stromberg and Milestone met there, both having gone separately to see their early effort.

And it was at this silent picture theater that Stromberg spoke to Milestone about their working together, on another picture.

George Holland Boston After Dark

THE BUSINESS MIRACLE of the year is being performed this waning week at the Boston Garden. . . . The Skating Vanities will have grossed $75,000 when the final count up has been made. . . . The first lavish ice-skating show, in 1935, was a similar miracle, only on a smaller scale. . . . It grossed less than $50,000 in its first Boston engagement.

THIS SKATING-SHOW, of course, is enacted on roller-skates. . . . And its success opens another possibly very profitable career for ambitious girls and boys. . . . Roller-skating choristers and stars will be in demand from this point on. . . . There is a real scarcity of human material in this new field of entertainment. . . . Audiences have marveled at the Skating Vanities' choreography. . . . The girl responsible is pretty Marie Carr, who began as a chorus girl in a line directed by Gay Foster. . . . Sunday's matinee show at the Garden will be given in aid of hospitalized veterans in this area, and no deductions for expenses or salaries are to be made.

IN LESS THAN TWO MONTHS, the Shangri-la's Thursday "Guest Nights" have become a fixture. . . . Jerry Mann, aside to Tommy Maren, buckled the sternest sort of competition in establishing the weekly feature. . . . In spite of opposition by actors' organizations, these night club guests nights continue to attract visiting performers. . . . The actors have been warned against performing gratis continually, but the truth must be that an actor is an actor, and that he (or she) enjoys acting. . . . Then again there is the hospitality of the nightclub bonifaces—an undeniable attraction. . . . No 30 per cent tax is payable on checks for entertainers who give their services, apparently.

THIS SAME MUCII-DISCUSSED 30 per cent tax is not being discounted these days. . . . In its third week, the tax will doom scores of spots in the brightlights district of New England unless someone discovers a method of luring a very coy patronage back into the glitter jennies. . . . The public is staying away—and in droves. . . . The Ritz-Carlton Roof will open May 25, according to the management's present plans. . . . But the famous Roof will open late, at 9:15 p. m. . . . By this maneuver, the problem of dinner is solved.

Hotels which affix a cover charge at 9 o'clock incur a huge amount of bad-will among guests who are present chiefly for the purpose of festing the inner man with food, not drink. . . . Yet a cover charge or large minimum charge, seems to be necessary to amortize the cost of dance-bands and entertainment.

THE 30 PER CENT tax is certainly going to affect entertainers, singers, dancers, and novelty acts particularly. . . . Entertainers who make their living by playing instruments, either as soloists or in a group, are the lucky ones under the terrific new tariff. . . . Already they are in great demand. . . . The tax is not exacted unless there is dancing or variety entertainment. . . . But harmonica players like John Sebastian, at the Plaza's Oval Room, star fiddle players (tranties in nightclub), accordions and pianists can perform in anybody's nightclub or hotel without forcing the management to add that 30 per cent clip.

Crosscup-Pishon Post In Tribute to Sharkey

By JACK CONWAY

JACK SHARKEY will be the chief speaker at a dinner the Crosscup-Pishon Post will give in his honor at the Hotel Lenox tonight. The former heavyweight champion will tell of his experiences in Africa and in Italy where he went to entertain the members of our fighting forces on the invitation of the War Department.

Ben Gershon, who is chairman of tonight's affair, says it will be attended by 300 persons. Members of the Crosscup-Pishon Post and newspapermen will honor Sharkey.

Jimmy Dawson of the New York Times and Al Buck of the New York Evening Post, who knew Sharkey intimately in the days of his ring greatness, have sent Ben Gershon special tributes to Sharkey.

"Sharkey was one of the greatest heavyweight champions," said Dawson of the Post. "If Sharkey had a fault, it was his honesty. He did not try to be a diplomat when he met people he didn't like. He told them to their teeth what he thought of them."

Buck used to write sports in Boston before going to New York, and lived through the glorious boxing period of the golden '90's.

"Sharkey was a great fighter and was always good copy," said Buck at the Sox-Yanks holiday afternoon game. "I would have liked to have seen him fight Gene Tunney and Joe Louis when he was at his best. When Sharkey had one of his good nights, nobody could defeat him."

Sharkey-Maloney Feud

THE SHARKEY-MALONEY feud was the hottest in Bostonistic history. I always thought it had a lot to do with some of the unpopularity Sharkey experienced in Boston.

When Sharkey knocked down Floyd Johnson and easily won the decision over the Westerner, he was a local ring hero. People tossed their hats into the ring like they had when John L. Sullivan was the darling of the mob.

Jim Maloney then came up off the streets of South Boston to challenge Sharkey's fistic position. They fought three times. Maloney won the first bout on a decision. The Crosscup-Pishon Post staged the second bout back in 1925 for the wounded veterans of World War I. Sharkey won on a foul.

The Maloney rooters refused to accept the decision and insisted Shamus could beat Sharkey. A third bout was staged in New York by Tex Rickard. Sharkey had beaten George Godfrey, Harry Wills and Mike McGuire, while Maloney had conquered Diener, McKuh, Pearson and Jack Delaney. The New York bout drew $252,000 and Sharkey knocked Maloney out and went on to fight Jack Dempsey.

IT DIDN'T improve Sharkey's local popularity when he stopped Maloney, but it did convince Tex Rickard Jack would some day win the title.

Liked by Servicemen

WHEN THE war came, Sharkey was a natural with servicemen. He spoke their language, understood their problems and made a fine appeal to them. His service in the Navy brought him close to the average man in the armed forces.

When there was a lull in the fighting in Africa, soldiers and aviators took time out to ask the War Department to invite Sharkey to come overseas to speak before them. Sharkey responded readily. He traveled all over Africa and Italy. He was in camps and towns that were under shell fire. He accepted the dangers of war as part of his overseas mission.

Tom Shehan, correspondent for the Army's paper, Stars and Stripes told me Sharkey was enthusiastically received everywhere. Sharkey enjoyed every minute of his trip, even the time when the plane carrying Sgt. Arthur Sullivan, hero of 51 bombing missions, and himself on the way home almost crashed. The near plane disaster was one of the thrills of the trip. Back home Sharkey has been accorded fine receptions every place he has appeared.

"When I was introduced from the ring at the New York Garden, I received the greatest ovation of my career," said Sharkey. "There was not a single boo. I do not believe that even Dempsey was received any better than I was in the Garden."

The American public is quick to show its appreciation of one who serves during the war. Sharkey has made the grade, and tonight's recognition of the former champion by the Crosscup-Pishon Post will be another of what should prove a pleasant memory for the former champion who never picked his opponents and who met every one from Dempsey down the line.

Confident Sox Meet A's

PHILADELPHIA, April 21—The boisterous Red Sox, fresh from their twin victories to one loss in meeting with the once tough Yankees, are in town ready to assist Connie Mack and his lads in opening the season here this p. m.

Joe Cronin is so sure of continuing the streak here that he is worrying about the weather and at the same time proclaiming the glory of his murderers row, namely Bob Johnson, Bob Doerr and Jim Tabor in that order. This is Johnson's return of his old love the A's and according to Cronin, he can get on about every time he comes to bat and without a hit as opposing pitchers are timid about throwing him good ones. Doerr, according to his boss, is on a hit bender and Tabor is so hot that even his bat sizzles when he grabs hold of it, witness, homer, double and single in the last stanza with the Yanks for a perfect day.

Cronin was chary about naming his starter on the mound but indicated it would be Clem Hausman, Lefty Vic Johnson or Lefty Oscar Judd and take your pick. Connie came right out in the open and said that Ed Black was his choice to tame the Cronin's.

Notre Dame Boxing Finals on Tonight

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 21 (AP)—Some 5000 students at Notre Dame will get a closeup of "Fighting Irish" tonight as 14 students, survivors in a starting field of more than 100 entrants, battle for university boxing championships.

Guest referee will be Barney Ross, former world's lightweight and welterweight champion, who recently was given a medical discharge from the Marine Corps.

Andrews on Mound In Wigwam Opener

By BILL GRIMES

Nate "Slim" Andrews and Dick "Kewpie" Barrett are slated to be the opposing moundsmen when the Braves and Phillies clash this afternoon in the Allston Wigwam.

After losing three in a row to the Giants in New York, the Coleman returned home late last night to make their first official appearance at Braves Field.

Gov. Saltonstall will toss out the first ball and Mayor Tobin will be on hand to wish Mgr. Coleman and the Braves a successful season.

BRAVES LOOK GOOD

The Braves looked better in New York than the results showed. They weren't hitting in the first two games, or both Al Javery and Jim Tobin would have coasted home with easy wins. Yesterday, they were hitting but they didn't get the pitching.

"Although that was a tough game to lose, after having the stage all set for us to grab it in the last inning," declared Mgr. Bob Coleman on the train last night, "I'm glad the boys managed to get a few hits. On Tuesday and Wednesday, they were 'tight' at the bat. They seemed to be overanxious, and I feared that they would begin to lose confidence if they didn't break through with some base knocks."

Coleman Ryan will start at second base today in place of Steve Shemo, who has not been hitting. Shemo lost his timing a week ago and hasn't been able to do anything at the bat. He's a grand fielder and if he can recover his batting eye will be back in the lineup.

STYLE CHANGE HELPS

Shortly after he reported at Choate School, Ryan was advised by Coleman to change his batting style. Coleman suggested that Ryan shorten up on the bat. Connie began to show improvement but he really didn't come into his own until yesterday, when he relieved Shemo. On both of his trips to the plate, Ryan hit the ball harder than he ever did last season, and got a single and a double.

Roland Glady will be at the hot corner and "Buck" Etchison on the initial sack, with the reliable "Whitey" Wietelmann at shortstop. "Whitey" is getting better every day and is just about the classiest shortstop in the majors today.

With the right handed Dick Barrett hurling for the Blue Jays, Manager Coleman will use "Butch" Nieman and "Chuck" Workman in the outfield.

Ray Mack Quits Game

CLEVELAND, April 21 (AP)

—Ray Mack, Cleveland Indian second baseman now employed in a war plant, said today he had considered rejoining the Tribe on a part-time basis but had decided against it after receiving a ruling from his selective service board.

A spokesman for the draft board said Mack was told if he played for the Indians at night or on Sunday he would lose his 2-B status, even though he took no time off from work. Mack is employed in the engineering department at an airplane parts plant.

"I will follow the board's instructions and I am definitely out of baseball," Mack declared.

Milton High Nine Strong

By MIKE GILLOOLY

It's been eight or nine years since Milton High School last qualified for the Eastern State Baseball championship play but as Coach Robert Osborn's squad prepares for its opener against Hingham Tuesday, the word is making the rounds that this is the team to watch as a potential starter in the title tournament.

There's apparently only one thing bothering Coach Osborn—the fact that Milton will be forced to play exactly 13 ball games and that just isn't a good place to stop a schedule.

VETERAN NINE

It will be an entirely veteran starting lineup. As a matter of fact, co-captains of last spring will be taking their places in the starting nine. Jerry Shaw at first base and Johnnie Ferrante at third base. Shaw, clean-up hitter last season, will again be belting them out from his southpaw stance at No. 4 batter while Ferrante, also a pitcher, will be taking turns on the mound when not stationed in the hot corner.

Milton will have a slick double play combination in John Kenny, captain, at short, and Bobby Blake at second. Kenny, lead-off last year, led in hitting. Kenny is a crackerjack infielder with a swell side kick in the speedy Blake.

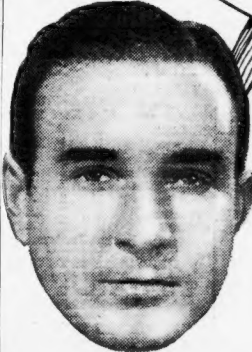

The starting battery against Hingham next week will have veterans Everett Goodwin, a right-hand, tossing to Dick Finn, a capable receiver with an accurate arm. And there'll be plenty of depth here for the remainder of the season.

As mound replacements, Coach Osborn will have third baseman Ferrante who has played every position in the infield, a big southpaw in Don Morgan and a pair of right-handers in Charlie Coutts and Phil Gahm. The catching department in back of Finn will be taken care of with Bill Reardon and Jim Montgomery, up from the Legion team, ready to step behind the plate. Reardon's batting has been so impressive that he may even be shifted to the outfield.

Such a move, however, would create a problem for Milton has a trio of sluggers in the Garden in veterans Gordon Mann and Joe Garrity and newcomer Fred Harrington, captain of the football team last fall. Harrington was on the squad last year. Then, too, Dick Lamer and Fran Walsh warrant plenty of consideration.

Milton has a complete secondary infield with Bob Schwarze at first, Dick McGonigle at second, Dick Whitham at short and Bob Sullivan at third.

NOTHING is good about dandruff flakes and scales. They accumulate on your scalp and cause it to itch and burn unpleasantly; they shower down on your coat collar and give it a messy look. You'll be much

Why Is a Marathoner? Tebeau Reunion Answer

By HUCK FINNEGAN

EXCEPT for an occasional rest period, marathoners train the year round for the BAA Patriots' Day classic; yet their stay in the spotlight lasts little longer than it takes to traverse the course. What makes 'em run, then? Is the reward worth all the suffering?

Let's recapture the picture at Tebeau Farm, Hopkinton, two hours before race time and try to find the answer:

Clarence DeMar

The Tebeau domicile is a rambling, weather-beaten structure thrown open for the day by Old John Tebeau.

Mrs. John and a schoolteacher daughter Mary. It is perched on the hillside some quarter-mile from the starting line. Spectators mingle with competitors on the lawns.

Downstairs in the coffee room younger competitors greet the daddy of 'em all, Clarence DeMar, who is a non-combatant for the first time since '22. All are eager to shake his hand, ask his advice on how to run the race.

Upstairs scattered through four rooms are the athletes changing into track suits. . . some sprawled on beds storing up energy for their toughest of all foot races, others busily taping shoes; some taut as piano wire, others completely relaxed. . . Jock Semple, for example, a veteran road-racer, Jock has a merry time at this annual reunion, greeting everybody effusively. He has a cheery word for Lloyd Bainslow, young Coast Guardsman who finished fourth in '43, is bothered by arthritis now. "Don't worry, son. I'll work out. I had it until I was 30." Then off to greet others.

Doctors Are Ready

DON OSBORNE of Gordon College is happy to see Les White and Charlie Fitzgerald, former club-mates in upstate Medway.

White and Fitzie welcome the divinity student into the marathon fold. . . Clayton Farrar tries to assure himself he has had enough long work to stand up under the grid. Ted Vogel says he's simply out for a lark, yet is to finish 15th.

"Doctors are ready" comes the call, and the marathoners leap downstairs to be examined by Drs. Martin Crotty and Johnny Doherty, old Tufts barrier champion. . . Les Pawson arrives looking homesick and announces he hasn't retired from the game. "I'll go after the NE six-mile title and run in some 10-milers. Yes, I expect to run the marathon again next year."

There are school teachers, bricklayers, printers, bus boys, college boys in the motley group. Judging by shapes and ages, some are there just for the outing, but largely they are seriously intent on "finishing in the first 10" . . . Gil Dodds there to "get the feel" of things and announcing he hopes to try the course "when I'm through as a miler" . . . Wives of runners giving them a good-luck kiss on the lawn as boys leave for starting line. . . Box-lunches piled into cars for hungry officials and newsmen. . . Hustle and bustle. . .

It is a grand and glorious reunion akin to Commencement week in college. Everybody is glad to see everybody else. It is the same on Exeter st. after the race, when blisters are being nursed over beef-steak, rolls and ice cream. Fast friendships are formed, like that between the Irish Kelleys and the English Pawsons.

NO POLITICS among this group, no race hatreds. Here one finds practiced the true principles on which this republic was formed. Their every action seems to say: This is the hardest of all athletic contests.

Small Crowd At Fistic Show

With the smallest crowd of the fistic season looking on, Ossie Harris, 164½, was awarded a unanimous decision over Jim Elliott, 165, of Baltimore, at the Callahan A. C. boxing program in Mechanics Building.

The meagre crowd contributed a gross of $1485.12, while the net receipts were $1084.72.

In the opening bout, Eddie Reardon, 125, Hartford, Ct., scored a technical kayo over George Takus, 125½, South End, in the third round.

Charlie Backofan, 167, Rockville, Ct., won a unanimous decision over Sammy Hawkes, 167, Newington, Ct., six rounds.

Young Stan Ketchell, 141, New Haven, Ct., outpointed Bill Shelton, 138½, Pittsburgh, six rounds.

Charley Parnham, 150, Milwaukee, kayoed Billy Brown, 147, Hartford, Ct., 2. In falling, Brown's leg buckled under him and he had to be carried to the dressing room.

Yankees, Senators Top A. L. Program

By the Associated Press

Brooklyn's perennial spring song, "Leave Us Go Root for the Dodgers, Roger" echoes through the damp tunnels of the BMT subway again today as the Flatbush flock comes home to see what has been making the New York Giants tick and the other clubs change partners and circle around for the second openers.

St. Louis gets its first gander at the unbeaten Browns when they take on the equally spotless Chicago White Sox and the Yankee Stadium opens up for the first time this season to present the World Champions of Washington, the experts' 1-2 pennant picks.

Cleveland entertains Detroit at home and the venerable Connie Mack sends out his A's for home front inspection in a tilt with Boston.

In addition to the Ebbets Field inaugural, other National League "turnabout" openers will find St. Louis at Chicago, Cincinnati at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia at Boston.

Brooklyn to an 8-2 decision over the Phils. The veterans lefthander allowed 13 hits but his matcoes clawed four Blue Jays for 14, including four by Augie Galan. Fourteen losers were left stranded.

THREE GIANTS HIT HOMERS
The home run power has been concentrated in the New York Giants, who lashed out with circuit clouts by Mel Ott, Joe Mewshaw and Ernie Lombardi again yesterday in their 19-8 slugfest win over Boston. Newrick had a double and two singles, in addition to his homer, as the Giants swept the series.

Cliff Melton, Mel Ott's pitching nominee, was knocked out in the ninth when the Braves rallied.

Tomas de la Cruz, a stylish Cuban from Havana, did the best hurling job in the National in Cincinnati's 2-1 verdict over Chicago.
